20010

THE

BIBLICAL REPOSITORY.

CONDUCTED BY

EDWARD ROBINSON

Professor Extraordinary in the Theological Seminary at Andover.

General Library University of MICHIGAN

VOLUME SECOND.

Nos. V—VIII.

ANDOVER:

FLAGG & GOULD, PUBLISHERS AND PRINTERS.

1832.

CONTENTS OF VOL. II.

NO. V.

Page.

ART. I. THE GREAT MYSTERY OF GODLINESS INCONTROVERTIBLE. A CRITICAL EXAMINATION OF THE VARIOUS READINGS IN 1 TIM. III. 16. By Dr Henderson, of Highbury Coll. England 1

ART. II. REMARKS ON THE INTERNAL EVIDENCE RESPECTING THE VARIOUS READINGS IN 1 TIM. III. 16. By Prof. Stuart 57

ART. III. THE NATURE AND MORAL INFLUENCE OF HEATHENISM, ESPECIALLY AMONG THE GREEKS AND ROMANS, VIEWED IN THE LIGHT OF CHRISTIANITY. By Prof. Tholuck, of Halle. Transl. by Prof. Emerson 80
Preliminary Remarks 80
Introduction 81
Part I. Origin of Heathenism . . 84
Part II. Estimation of Heathenism by the Heathen themselves . . . 95
Appendix to Part I 119

ART. IV. ARE THE SAME PRINCIPLES OF INTERPRETATION TO BE APPLIED TO THE BIBLE AS TO OTHER BOOKS? By Prof. Stuart . . . 124

ART. V. ON THE NATURE OF PROPHECY. From Hengstenberg's "Christologie." Transl. by J. F. Warner 138
Preliminary Remarks by the Editor 138
Nature of Prophecy, etc. . . 139

ART. VI. ON THE NECESSITY OF PHYSICAL CULTURE TO LITERARY MEN, AND ESPECIALLY TO CLERGYMEN. By Edward Reynolds, M. D. of Boston 174

ART. VII. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE 201
From the Rev. E. Smith to Prof. Stuart 201
From Prof. Tholuck to the Editor 204
From the same to the same . . 206

ART. VIII. LITERARY NOTICES 210
1. Rosenmuelleri Scholia in V. T. in Compendium redacta. By Prof. Stuart 210
II. Recent Publications . . 215

NO. VI.

ART. I. ON THE ALLEGED OBSCURITY OF PROPHECY. By Prof. Stuart 217

ART. II. THE NATURE AND MORAL INFLUENCE OF HEATHENISM, ESPECIALLY AMONG THE GREEKS AND ROMANS, VIEWED IN THE LIGHT OF CHRISTIANITY, continued. By Prof. Tholuck, of Halle. Translated by Prof. Emerson . . . 246
Part. III. Character of Polytheism and of the Deification of Nature in general; as also of the Grecian and Roman religions in particular . . 246
Part IV. On the Influence of Heathenism upon Life.—Sect. I. Superstition and Unbelief . . . 263

ART. III. HINTS ON THE STUDY OF THE GREEK LANGUAGE. By Prof. Stuart 290

ART. IV. INTERPRETATION OF ISAIAH LII. 13.—LIII.—From Hengstenberg's "Christologie." Translated by J. F. Warner 310
Preliminary Remarks by the Editor 310
Interpretation of Isaiah, etc. 313
Historical Introduction . . 314
Exposition 331

ART. V. ON THE LETTER ATTRIBUTED TO PUBLIUS LENTULUS, RESPECTING THE PERSONAL APPEARANCE OF CHRIST. By the Editor . . 367

ART. VI. THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION IN ITALY. By Prof. Tholuck, of Halle. Transl. by the Editor 393

ART. VII. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE 405
From Prof. Hahn to the Editor 405

ART. VIII. LITERARY NOTICES 407
1. Biblia Hebraica, ed. Hahn . . 407
2. Corpus Scriptorum Historiae Byzantinae 408
3. Der Prophet Joel uebersetzt und erklaert, etc. 418

NO. VII.

ART. I. ON THE CANONICAL AUTHORITY OF THE EPISTLE TO THE HEBREWS.—By Joseph John Gurney 409
Preliminary Remarks 409
Canonical Authority, etc. 411

ART. II. THE NATURE AND MORAL INFLUENCE OF HEATHENISM, ETC. continued.—By Prof. Tholuck, of Halle. Translated by Prof. Emerson 441
Part IV. On the influence of Heathenism upon Life.—Sect. II. Sensuality 441
Sect. III. Impotency of Heathenism for Improvement 465
Part V. Hints on the Study of Classical Literature 494

ART. III. INTERPRETATION OF ISAIAH LII. 13.—LIII. continued.—From Hengstenberg's "Christologie." Translated by J. F. Warner 499
Exposition, from Verse 10, etc. . 499
Translation 510
Arguments against the Messianic Interpretation considered 512
Arguments in favour of the Messianic Interpretation 517
Arguments against other Interpretations 534
Conclusion 540

ART. IV. THE MERITS OF CALVIN AS AN INTERPRETER OF THE HOLY SCRIPTURES.—By Prof. Tholuck, of Halle. Translated by L. Woods Jr. 541

ART. V. THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION AND LITERATURE IN THE ENGLISH CHURCH.—By Prof. Pusey, of Oxford, England . 568
Preliminary Notice 568
Theological Education in England . 569
Appendix.—Theological Literature . 576

ART. VI. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE 585
From Prof. Pusey to the Editor . 585
From M. Merle d'Aubigne to the Rev. Mr Proudfit 587
From the same to the same . . 589

ART. VII.—LITERARY NOTICES . 590

TERMS OF ADMISSION TO THE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY, ANDOVER 591

NO. VIII.

ART. I. LIFE OF CARSTEN NIEBUHR.—By his Son, B. G. Niebuhr. Translated by the Editor . . 593
Introduction 593
Life 598
Appendix 649

ART. II. ACCOUNT OF A FAMINE AND PESTILENCE IN EGYPT, A. D. 1200, 1201. By Abd-allatif. Translated by the Editor . . 657
Introduction 657
Account of the Famine, etc. . . 659

ART. III. SAMARITAN PENTATEUCH AND LITERATURE. By Prof. Stuart 681

ART. IV. IMPORTANCE OF STUDYING THE BIBLE IN CONNEXION WITH THE CLASSICS. By Prof. C. E. Stowe 724

ART. V. EXODUS OF THE ISRAELITES OUT OF EGYPT, AND THEIR WANDERINGS IN THE DESERT. By the Editor . . 743
I. Land of Goshen 744
II. Route to the Red Sea . . . 750
III. Passage of the Red Sea . . . 753
IV. Route from the Red Sea to Sinai 758
V. From Sinai to the Confines of Moab. Wanderings in the Desert 771

NOTE. Anselmi Opera 797

INDEXES to Vol. II 799

MAP of the Country south of Palestine, and the Peninsula of Mount Sinai.

CHART of the Red Sea near Suez. (See p. 797.)

CONTENTS

OF

No. V.

ART. PAGE

I. THE GREAT MYSTERY OF GODLINESS INCONTROVERTIBLE. A CRITICAL EXAMINATION OF THE VARIOUS READINGS IN 1 TIM. III. 16 1
By Dr Henderson, of Highbury Coll. England.

II. REMARKS ON THE INTERNAL EVIDENCE RESPECTING THE VARIOUS READINGS IN 1 TIM. III. 16 . . . 57
By Prof. Stuart.

III. THE NATURE AND MORAL INFLUENCE OF HEATHENISM, ESPECIALLY AMONG THE GREEKS AND ROMANS, VIEWED IN THE LIGHT OF CHRISTIANITY.
By Prof. Tholuck, of Halle. Transl. by Prof. Emerson.

Preliminary Remarks 80
Introduction 81
Part I. Origin of Heathenism 84
" II. Estimation of Heathenism by the Heathen themselves 95
Appendix to Part I. 119

IV. ARE THE SAME PRINCIPLES OF INTERPRETATION TO BE APPLIED TO THE BIBLE AS TO OTHER BOOKS? . 124
By Prof. Stuart.

CONTENTS.

ART. PAGE

V. ON THE NATURE OF PROPHECY . . . . . .
From Hengstenberg's "Christologie." Transl. by J. F. Warner.
Preliminary Remarks by the Editor 138
Nature of Prophecy, etc. 139

VI. ON THE NECESSITY OF PHYSICAL CULTURE TO LITERARY MEN, AND ESPECIALLY TO CLERGYMEN. . . 174
By Edward Reynolds, M. D. of Boston.

VII. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE . . . . . .
From the Rev. E. Smith to Prof. Stuart 201
" Prof. Tholuck to the Editor 204
" the same to the same 206

VIII. LITERARY NOTICES . . . . . .
I. Rosenmuelleri Scholia in V. T. in Compendium redacta 210
By Prof. Stuart.
II. Recent Publications 215

NOTE. Two original articles in a state of preparation for this Number, are necessarily deferred.